PASTOR'S MESSAGE

Dear Parishioners,

We are in a season of mystery, celebrating in faith the mighty works of God in our lives. Who is not moved in some way by the words of today's gospel? Yet who can fully understand this gospel? God's glory is felt in the heart, not comprehended with the head. Like love and blessing, glory is a two-way word. God loves us; we love God. God blesses us; we bless God. God glorifies us in Christ; we glorify God in Christ. In loving God, we serve Him faithfully. In blessing God, we praise Him for His goodness. In glorifying God, we allow ourselves to rest in the Spirit of God and we allow the Spirit to rest on us, as today's second reading explains. The whole year is the season of God's love. Advent and Christmas are the seasons of God's blessing, given to us in the Christ Child. Easter and Pentecost are the seasons of God's glory, when we accept the Spirit of power into our lives and celebrate our call to give the Spirit to the world.

As we approach the feast of the founding of the Church in the outpouring of the Spirit of glory, we see today's gospel as a bridge between Easter and Pentecost. The prayer of Jesus that God would give Him glory for the salvation of the world was answered in the resurrection. His prayer that He might bestow eternal life on His disciples was fulfilled in the descent of the Holy Spirit, who comes upon every new generation of Christians in the sacraments of Baptism and Confirmation. We are privileged to share in the glory of God by continuing the work of Jesus in the world until He comes again.

"I have given You glory on earth by finishing the work You gave Me to do." In this simple sentence, Jesus sums up the whole purpose of His life's work. He had only one goal in life, to give glory to God. He achieved His goal by sticking to one task and doing it to the best of His ability, the task of doing the work which the Father gave Him to do. Jesus did not presume to devise elaborate plans for meeting His goal in life. If He had one secret of success, it was that He found the mark of the Creator in the ordinary people, events, and situations of day-to-day living. Jesus gave glory to God on earth by evoking God's glory from the earth.

We Christians have always been aware of our duty to love God and our neighbor. We are also accustomed to blessing God for His goodness and to blessing our neighbors by praying that God may bless them. How do we rate in giving glory to God? We have a few fixed occasions of prayer when we are reminded of our obligation to glorify God, such as when we pray the Gloria at Mass. Do we know how to glorify God in our actions? What about glorifying our neighbor? In colloquial usage, this sounds like making someone out to be greater than they are, almost deifying them. However, the concept also has a Christian meaning. We glorify someone in the eyes of God when we do something which enables them to radiate the glory of God to us. We, who possess the Spirit of Glory, can and should, give the Spirit to others by speaking and acting in a Christian manner. God's glory is contagious. Those who possess the Spirit cannot help but share it with others. In this way, not only is God glorified in His creation, but all creation is glorified in God.

Today's second reading reminds us that the moment of our greatest glory in Christ is often the time when we feel most deeply the pain, rather than the joy, of being followers of Christ. It is precisely because they propel us into the life of glory that these difficult moments become opportunities for deepening our faith, hope, and love. The Spirit of glory sustains us in the time of trial and enables us to surmount every obstacle for the sake of the gospel.

The glory of God is all around us, ever present to our touch, ever hidden from our sight. We reveal God's glory by using the things of this world in ways which enhance our human condition, especially the lives of the poor and oppressed among us. When we search out the hidden potential for goodness in a person burdened by poverty or handicap, when we uncover the unsuspected peaceful use of wartime inventions, when we look for ways to humanize our dehumanized institutions, to melt their hearts of stone and give them hearts of flesh, when we do any good activity, we reveal the glory of God in ourselves and in the world around us. God has given His glory to us so that we may live for Him. If we do nothing else in life except seek out His glory and give it back to Him in action and in prayer, we will find at the end of our journey that we have built up from the many ordinary things of our lives an offering pleasing to the Lord, an acceptable sacrifice of praise.

God bless you,

HIS WORD TODAY by Rev. William J. Reilly

Jesus raised His eyes to heaven and said, "Father the hour has come. Give glory to Your Son so that Your Son may glorify You, just as You gave Him authority over all people, so that Your son may give eternal life to all You gave Him. Now this is eternal life, that they should know You, the only true God and the One You have sent, Jesus Christ...I pray for them."

Gifts are given. One considers who the receiver is and what that person might like or need. After deliberating a choice is made and the gift is offered.

Gifts are received. One opens his hands to receive them and gratefully accept what has been chosen.

The greatest gift ever is the gift of eternal life. By His dying and rising, Jesus wanted to give us this gift. We call it grace, the very life of God, communicated to us freely by Him and accepted. As I reflect upon this awesome care of God for me, at this very moment, I do not need to send a thank you note, but prayerfully take, protect and guard this incredible treasure.

My response can be my prayers of thanks to Him.
