PASTOR'S MESSAGE

Dear Parishioners,

Today's readings speak to us about the Spirit of God at work within us. The prophet Malachi tells us that as we hear God's word we need to place it in our hearts and live our lives in such a way that our words and actions give praise and glory to God. If we do not, our blessings may become our curse. Malachi reminds us that we have but one God who has created us, so why shouldn't we strive to live in such a way so as to give glory and praise to God, by being examples of faith, love, and support to one another?

Saint Paul praises the Thessalonians for their faith in the one true God. They had heard and they believed that the message he spoke was from God and not the word of any mere mortal. Paul not only shared God's word with them, he even shared his very life, working for his own keep so as not to impose on their hospitality. He was so convinced of the Good News of God that he described the gospel to the Thessalonians as "God's good tidings" which will always be at work in the hearts of those who believe.

After reflecting upon these two readings, we come to understand that one of the greatest truths we can ever learn, is that we have a Father in heaven who desires to be intimately involved in our lives. Jesus affirmed this truth when He said to the crowds and His disciples that there is one Father, the One in heaven. They were to avoid being called rabbi and were not to be called teachers because there is only one teacher, the Messiah. Why would we look for wisdom, strength or help anywhere else? The promise of Christianity is that through Christ we can know God, our Father, who loves each of us so deeply that He sent His only Son to redeem us. God does not expect us to carry on alone. In the Church, the body of Christ, we have brothers and sisters who are reflections of the Father's love for us, just as we are to be reflections of God's love for them.

What a truly great blessing it would be if this attitude of love and service was adopted in every family, including our parish family. We are called to imitate Christ Who was the servant of all. We are all called to be like Christ, and can be, if we allow ourselves to be transformed by the power of the Holy Spirit into His likeness. If we function as true followers of Christ, we can ask the Spirit to give us a servant's heart, willingly and humbly fulfilling our role in God's plan for us. Jesus said, "The greatest among you must be your servant." May the Spirit of God teach us to be willing and humble in our services to each other.

God bless you,

"ON THIS ROCK I WILL BUILD MY CHURCH" ~ Jesus Is it Time to "Come Home"?

Have you ever wondered about our Catholic faith - why we as Catholic Christians do the things we do? Are you a non-Catholic on a spiritual journey with our Lord or a Catholic who has never received all of the Sacraments and would like to come into full communion with the Church? Maybe our Lord is tugging at your heart inviting you to "Come Home" to the Catholic faith - the faith instituted by Him. The Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults (RCIA) started this fall. It's not too late to sign up for RCIA. Here you can learn about the faith and possibly become a member of the church at Easter time. If anyone is feeling the Lord is calling them to inquire, please contact Deacons Langsdorf or Currie at deaconlangsdorf@gmail.com or deaconcurrie@gmail.com and leave a message.

PARISH REGISTRATION...

Often people attend Mass at Corpus Christi Church for several years, but do not register with the parish. Others delay registering until they are asked to be a godparent or Confirmation sponsor, would like to have their own child baptized, or would like to schedule a wedding or a funeral at the parish. Registering in a parish is a declaration of your desire to be part of a Catholic community. If you are not currently a member of our parish and live within the parish boundaries, we invite you to consider registering with us and making a commitment to the life of Corpus Christi Church. Register at the Parish Center Office, Monday-Friday, from 9am to 5pm or give us a call at 215-855-1311 between those hours if unable to visit in person.

AN EXPLANATION OF FORTY HOURS THE ANNUAL EUCHARISTIC DEVOTION

Thursday, the 26th is the Feast of Corpus Christi, a holy day of obligation. We understand that on this day the devotion of the Forty Hours will commence in Saint Philip Church, Southwark. It will begin at six o'clock in the morning and will be continued through the remaining days of the week. The faithful are advised to visit that church to join in the devotions some time during its continuance.

Those few sentences from the Catholic Herald, on 26 May 1853, mark an epoch in the history of a young American church. They signal one of the chief glories of the heroic career of Saint John Neumann, C.S.S.R., fourth bishop of Philadelphia.

Neumann is somewhat slighted in the traditional manuals of American Church history. The sagas of the missionaries, the wrangling of the theologians, the jovian thunders of the Irelands, the Corrigans, and the Gibbonses tend to get star billing from the academicians. A sublimely, apostolically, simple pastor like Saint John does not always get his due. But when the tumult and the shouting dies, we are left to this day with the enduring legacy of a saint in his introduction of the Forty Hours Devotion into the life of the American Church.

Devotion to the Blessed Sacrament was very close to the heart of Saint John - as it would be to any Redemptorist. Their founder, Saint Alfonso de Liguori, told his confreres: "Where your treasure is, there will your heart be also." these saints valued and loved one treasure only - and their treasure was Jesus Christ; hence their hearts and all of their love went out to the Most Blessed Sacrament.

The sixteenth century devotion of the Forty Hours adoration of the Blessed Sacrament went deep into the European roots of Neumann's piety. From the beginning of his tenure as Bishop of Philadelphia, he wanted to bring this treasure of Eucharistic devotion into the American Church. The Forty Hours had been celebrated intermittently and locally in Philadelphia and other dioceses. Neumann would organize the Forty Hours as a diocesan program and eventually a national act of parish spirituality. He broached the matter informally with his priests early in 1853, and was met with a surprising amount of resistance. The Nativist riots of 1844, during which several churches in Philadelphia were destroyed or damaged, were still a green wound in local Catholic memory. The priests feared that so lengthy and so public an exhibition of Catholic piety would provoke further desecration. Neumann tabled the matter for the time being.

Then, late one night, while pondering and praying over the response of the priests, he fell asleep at his desk. He awoke to find that his candle had ignited the papers on which he had been working. He extinguished the blaze, and found that amid the charred remains of his correspondence, his papers concerning the Forty Hours had remained undamaged. As he fell to his knees in prayer, he tells us that he heard a voice saying within him: "As the flames are burning here without consuming or injuring the writing, so I pour out My work in the Blessed Sacrament without prejudice to My honor. Fear no profanation, therefore. Hesitate no longer to carry out your design for My glory."

And so it happened. In April of 1853, Saint John convened a synod of the Church of Philadelphia. He later wrote: “Last month I assembled all the priests of my diocese and gave them the spiritual exercises; then followed a synod; and I have reason to rejoice over the success of both ... Besides several statutes enacted upon various points of discipline, it was also proposed to introduce into the larger churches of the dioceses the Devotion of the Forty Hours so that there might be no week in the year in which the Blessed Sacrament would not be exposed for the adoration of the faithful.”

It was surely no accident that Neumann chose Saint Philip Neri Parish in Southwark [south Philly] as the inaugural site for his program of Forty Hours Devotions. Saint Philip Neri is often credited as the founder of the Forty Hours, in sixteenth century Rome. Also, Saint Philip’s was the last of the churches to be desecrated during the tragic summer of 1844. So, with something between a prayer and a dare, Neumann launched a movement of piety that still lies very close to the heart of the American Church.

Saint John composed the manual for the celebrations himself. He spent the entire forty hours in the church rapt in prayer. There were no disturbances, and the devotions spread from parish to parish. A year later he wrote to his sister: “In the nearby church of Saint Paul, the Forty Hours were held on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. The church was always crowded. Fourteen priests heard confessions, and about three thousand people received Holy Communion ...and so it goes the whole year, almost without interruption.” And so it has gone for a century and a half. In the Eucharist, we live and move and have our being. In the Forty Hours Devotion, the heart of Saint John Neumann still speaks to the Church of Philadelphia.

First Reading: Malachi 1:14b—2:2b, 8-10 This passage from Malachi denounces the laxity and unfaithfulness of the people and especially of the priests, who failed in their duties to God and their neighbors.

Responsorial Psalm: PS 131:1, 2, 3
R. In You, Lord, I have found my peace.

Second Reading: 1 Thessalonians 2:7b-9, 13 Paul reminisces about his extremely happy and successful visit with the Thessalonians. He praises them once again for their immediate and open acceptance of his message as truly the word of God.

Gospel: Matthew 23:1-12 In a strongly worded message, Jesus again rebukes the Pharisees for the hypocritical ostentation and love of honor and position. He reminds the people and the disciples that the truly greatest one is the one who serves others. He ends with the words, "Whoever exalts himself shall be humbled, but whoever humbles himself shall be exalted."

HIS WORD TODAY by Rev. William J. Reilly

"We were gentle among you, as a nursing mother cares for her children. With such affection for you, we were determined to share with you not only the gospel of God but our very selves as well, so dearly beloved had you become to us... And for this reason we too give thanks to God unceasingly, that, in receiving the Word of God hearing from us, you received it not as a human word but, as it truly is, the Word of God which is now at work in you who believe."

Imagine the great persecutor, whipped, chained, jailed and shipwrecked, comparing himself to a nursing mother. The rough edges seemed worn down, and his love and affection burst forth. Paul was gentle, but also stern.

The great saints, and our recent popes, have exhibited these same characteristics and virtues. Look at the World Youth travels of Saint John Paul II. Remember the sound teaching and leadership of Pope Benedict. Look at the humble presence of Pope Francis.

We are asked by all of them to take not only God's Word but also their example, for that same Spirit is at work in each one of us. When we are ready to criticize what is going on, remember that God's Spirit is truly at work, especially when we find the teaching challenging and difficult.

Surely the popes we have cited along with Saint John 23rd were gentle in guiding the church through tumultuous times. We give thanks to God for giving us them.

We pray for the deceased members, relatives and friends of our parish family, especially Louise McCormick; Ken Slater, husband of Mary; Dan Ungvarsky, husband of Dolores; Robert Spellman, husband of Gloria.

Lord, those who die still live in Your presence, their lives change but do not end.

We pray in hope for our families, relatives and friends, and for all the dead known to You alone.
