PASTOR'S MESSAGE

Dear Parishioners,

The scenario of both the first reading today and the responsorial psalm is the Babylonian exile of the Jewish people. Because of their many sins of idolatry and immorality committed through the centuries, God decided to punish them through this exile of seventy years. When God saw that this punishment had served the purpose intended by Him, namely the conversion of the people, He decided to use Cyrus, King of Persia, as His tool to allow them to return to Palestine and rebuild it. The king did not forcibly transport the Jewish people to their homeland. He gave them permission and allowed each individual or family to make their own decision. We know from both biblical and secular sources that not all of them returned.

Who were the ones who went back and went back happily? People like the author of the responsorial psalm. They never forgot Zion and wept whenever they talked about it. People who could say, "If I forget you, Jerusalem, may my right hand be forgotten. May my tongue cleave to my palate if I remember you not." People like the great prophet of the exile, Ezechiel and his followers. People like the priest Ezra and his disciples who would be the first to return. They were realists. They knew from their own experience that Babylon was a much richer land than Palestine, that their material well-being and their financial situation here would be far superior to that in poor little Palestine. But their patriotism, their fidelity to their traditions, their loyalty to Yahweh was too strong to let material superiority smother their desire for their homeland, for Jerusalem, and for the temple of the Lord. However, those whose loyalty to God and to the land was not that strong, gave in to the allurements of the economic and political superiority of the land of their exile. They did not consider themselves exiles any more. Babylon was their home.

The remarks of Jesus in the gospel today about the serpent Moses lifted up in the desert reminds us of the forty year long journey of the Jews on their way to Palestine, the home promised to them by God. From what the books of the Torah tell us about the pilgrimage to the promised land, we know that it was a very difficult journey. At times they were without sufficient food; at times they did not have enough water for themselves and for their cattle. A desert is never a hospitable surrounding. On many such occasions of want the people complained against God and against Moses. On one occasion of such bitter complaining God decided to punish His people with poisonous snakes, which killed many. In their misery, they repented and turned to the Lord. God ordered Moses to make a serpent of bronze and raise it on a pole. Whoever looked upon that serpent would be saved and enabled to get to the promised land. Those who did not convert and did not get their encouragement from the bronze serpent never got a chance to reach the goal.

Our sojourn on earth is our Babylon and our Egypt. Here we are exiles and live away from our real home. The appeal of this world, of its riches, of its pleasures, and of its joys is so strong that many people give in. They get so involved in the here and now that they forget what is eternal. They come to concentrate so much on what is here below that they lose sight of what is above. Even the best of us might get attached just a little too much – unless we are careful. We are body and soul. We are citizens of the earth and citizens of heaven. The two must be well balanced in our lives. However, in this balance the spiritual, the eternal, must always be the dominant element.

Our life here on earth is a journey, a pilgrimage toward our heavenly home. Here we have no permanent home. Our domicile here is transitional. The journey is a difficult one and it costs a lot of sacrifices. It is a narrow gate – a winding road with many obstacles. People who are allergic to sacrifices, who want an easy and comfortable trip, will never make it. One must really believe in life everlasting and must be convinced of the joy of seeing God forever as He is, face to face, before he or she is willing to carry the cross of Christ on the bumpy road and enter eternity through the "eye of the needle".

God bless you,

First Reading: 2 Chronicles 36:14-16, 19-23 The people of Judah practiced many abominations, even polluting God's temple in Jerusalem. They mocked the messengers He sent among them, until He grew so angry He delivered them to the King of the Chaldeans. Those who weren't killed were exiled and became servants for seventy years. Cyrus, King of Persia, was ordered to build a temple to God in Jerusalem, and he freed the servants as God had inspired him to do.

Responsorial Psalm: PS 137:1-2, 3, 4-5, 6.
R. (6ab) Let my tongue be silenced, if I ever forget you!

Second Reading: Ephesians 2:4-10 Paul declares that God brought us to life in Jesus, though we had been dead from our sins. He reminds us that it was not a reward for our good service so no one should take credit. Instead, we must remember that it was not our doing, but a sign of God's mercy and love for us.

Gospel: John 2:13-25 John 3:14-21

God so loved the world, He sent us His only Son so that all who believed would have eternal life in Him. The light came into the world, but those who were wicked avoided it, for fear that their evil deeds would be exposed. But those who believed were unafraid of the light, where it would be clear that their deeds were done in God.

HIS WORD TODAY by Rev. William J. Reilly

"God who is rich in mercy, because of the great love He had for us, even when we were dead in our transgressions, brought us to life with Christ – by grace you have been saved, raised us up with Him and seated us with Him...for by grace you have been saved, and this is not from you it is the gift of God."

Perhaps a great difficulty for us, is to appreciate the need we had for Jesus' saving work. Because we have been redeemed by Him, and experience His presence and love, we forget the great need which existed for all time for a Savior. Maybe we should change the words of St. Paul, and write 'the great love He has for us.'

We might place on a back burner, the effects of Superstorm Sandy, the earthquake in Mexico, the hurricanes of last fall, the California wild fires, while the devastating effects are still being felt. So too our sinfulness and need for redemption today.

Our Lenten practices call us to acknowledge our need today and through prayer, good works, and the Sacrament of Reconciliation and Eucharist, we are to move ourselves closer to the Lord. Remember, it is God's gift to us and we open our hearts today to receive it. May we seek forgiveness and grace in the Sacrament of Reconciliation, making it to confession before Easter.

RESPECT LIFE NEWS CORNER

As we journey through Lent, it is time to seize the opportunity. Repent, draw near to the heart of God – and fast. Yes, fast. It is an effective means to transform us inside and to change the world outside. Fasting to end abortion is essential. It humbles us and conforms us to the loving heart of God and causes us to weep over what He weeps over. Fasting also defeats the enemy. In Mark 9:29 Jesus says, "Some demons can only be driven out by prayer and fasting." ending abortion requires a spiritual victory. Let's give the battle everything we have, aim for the most effective prayer – with fasting.

Legislators in the Pa. House and Senate are preparing to introduce bills to protect children diagnosed in the womb with Down Syndrome. Having developmental delays – being "different" – should not be a reason to abort an unborn child, yet here in Pennsylvania it is permitted by law. As many as 90% of these children are being aborted in the United States. This legislation, being introduced in the House by Rep. Mike Turzai and in the Senate by Sen. Scott Martin, would stop any child from being aborted solely due to a diagnosis of possible Down Syndrome. Please contact your Pa. Representative and Senator and urge them to co-sponsor this life-saving legislation. For your legislators info visit: www.legis.state.pa.us/

"Follow Me: Meeting Jesus in the Gospel of John"

Following Christ takes more than simply believing in him or doing what he asks of us. Unfortunately, we will have to discontinue this project. We are asking our parishioners to please DO NOT DROP OFF ANYMORE PAPERS ON OUR PREMISES. The parish and school will continue to recycle papers through our regular waste disposal company (Mascaro). However, this service will be "in-house" only and will not be available to our parishioners.

We thank everyone for participating in paper recycling and hope you will continue to do so through other means. Unfortunately, this can no longer be done at our parish.
